Berman and others published Teaching Organizational Behavior: The Experiential Approach | Find, read and cite all the research you need on ResearchGate.Â That is, we try to relate the behavior of styles depending on the sex of the subjects. For this we used a sample of 995 subjects, 51.2% were female and 48.8% were male. The average age was 41 years.Â This "reform mania" played a major role in our 1988 experience as visiting professors of organizational behavior and human resource management in a cooperative MBA program with Nanjing University. The culture of reform resulted in flexible, hands-off treatment from university administrators
